

SSFAA PRESCHOOL ROOM 111 NEWS

Karmell perfects his butterfly drawing.

News You Can Use

We've finally had some winter weather and boy are the kids excited! Though we're sad we can't really go out to enjoy the winter weather, it is giving us the chance to discuss what clothes to wear for the seasons and weather. Soon we will use a graph to log the weather each day, which is an important math activity that will come in handy in Kindergarten. We're also learning about the calendar which will help our kids learn the difference between letters and numbers as we start to work harder on the alphabet. Please take the time to talk with your child about these things and the other activities on the homework calendar each week. Don't forget to ask your child what we're learning about the words in bold!

Last, the messy weather makes for messy floors in our coat and door areas. We encourage the kids to keep their belongings off of the floor, and it would be helpful if families would reenforce this at drop-off and pickup times, as well as at home. Coats and hats can go directly from the body to the cubby and back without getting wet!

As always, feel free to contact us with any questions at the number below or via email at hmduncan@cps.edu. Don't forget to check our website, Facebook page and Facebook group regularly and follow @authenticpreschool on Twitter for links to pictures and stories about Room 111! Use this QR code to get there fast!

January's Important Dates:

January 15th: No School - Martin Luther King Jr. Day

authenticpreschool.net/room111.html

Phone: 773 535 8348